Day 4

We have a short stage today, exploring the surroundings. Enjoy the splendorous views that this part of the Algarve has to offer you. Cycle through the narrow roads in the small and very typical country side villages that you'll pass and their distinctive architecture and painting – white washed houses with bands of color around the windows and doors. You'll pass by Odiáxere – nationally know by its wooden oven home made bread, produced handmade and meant to last 7 days. Why not take a peek at the ovens and taste this small and rustic delicatessen? Then it's time to get back to our luxury hotel and relax...

Here you'll enter in the Southwest Alentejo and Costa Vicentina Natural Park. A genuine seventh heaven made up of almost only deserted beaches, cliffs and crags among exceptionally rich biodiversity and unique geological heritage. Among the 750 plants and 200 species of birds that have been identified throughout the area of the Natural Park, there are a few worth mentioning like the White Stork, Bonelli's Eagle, Peregrine Falcon or the felines such as the Fox or the Iberian Linx. For the next two nights you'll be staying at Martinhal Sagres, a unique resort which combines luxury with nature, designed to blend effortlessly into the indigenous landscape.
